After all, you already had a TV and its accouterments in the rumpus room Why gather friends and family around the desk in the corner of the living room to watch movies on a 17-inch iMac? But times are changing. You can easily scale to any number of users across the globe without acquiring, provisioning, and operating hardware or infrastructure.. At one time the idea of watching movies on a Mac seemed both quaint and inconvenient.. Each end user has a fluid and responsive experience because your applications run on virtual machines optimized for specific use cases and each streaming sessions automatically adjust to network conditions..
